On a volume of trading that was substantially the same as last week both the bond and stock lists made a much better showing as to prices than they did last Saturday night.

Speculation has centred in the Granger stocks, and in consequence they have scored net gains of 3 to 6% Feent. Northwestern has been the leader, because of the benefits which it is believed the stock will derive from the refunding of a portion of the company's bonded debt. The next greatest be able to increase its dividend rate during the last half of the year. Rock Island was the conspicuously strong feature to-day. It sold at the highest price recorded for it in a long time and night. This movement naturally stimulated fresh purchases of all of the Granger stocks and prevented a reactionary movement at the business the speculative element was disposed the earnings of the system. Now that many of the usually active stocks have advanced 10 points or more, dealers in securities are beginning to look around for bonds of merit and low-price stocks that have not yet received general attention. It will not be surprising therefore, if securities that have long been neglected should steadily come to the front and make new records as to prices. In forecasting the future of the market the fact should not be overlooked that as yet London has not taken an ac-here or on its own Exchange. There are un-terest in American securities in London, prohibitive prices and our own market begins to show a substantial character, it may reasonably be assumed that before long foreign deal-

At the moment Europe continues to draw gold from this country, but the operation is regarded with equanimity here, partly because of the metal both in the Treasury and ordinary course of business. General trade continues to show a gradual improve ment, while the feeling of expectancy of a return to normal conditions as soon as the tariff measure has been disposed of is con-shown to an extent by the increase in the loans of the Ass clated Banks this week, following a large increase last week, week has been due largely to purchases of commercial paper; in other words, to the extension of accommodations to commercial borrowers.

The trading in cotten to-day was intensely dull, and in the main of a local holiday character. The Liverpool in was use better than had been expected, and under its influence prices here advanced for a time. The weather and crop advices, however, were favorable, the Chronicle was bearish, and the Weather Bureau reported rains in Texas. Local operators sold and prices reacted and lost most of the improvement. Dalias, Tex., June 22.—"Insumming up the Texas situation we believe increase in acreage will be 10 per cent ever isst was Texp reports are meetly good, and weather and other conditions for past ten days have been ideal. Cotton plant is growing by 1 aps—fields mostly clear and well cultivated. Although plant was two to four weeks late his weather has pashed growth rapidly, and if it continues crop will be much earlier than expect d. Indications point to a large crop with good staple. The leading journal in this State has made an exhaustive crop report from all sections of the State, aummary of which is as follows: 'Crop is a large one, about three weeks late, due to excessive rains and cool lights, but a cressiou of rains followed by hot weather will ring more rapid growth. Increase in acreage about 10 % cent. Blooms and even open volla are reported in some localities. Marked improvement past in days makes the News report not fairly represent present conditions." Macon, Ga., June 28.—"I find crop small and tackward, but very promising." Hirming-lam, Ma., June 28.—"Cop conditions in this section are much improved this week, and from all sources we continue to receive much more favorable resmall and backward, but very promising." Birmingham, Aia. June 23.—"Crop conditions in this section are much improved this week, and from all sources we continue to receive much more favorable reports." Houston, Tex., June 21.—" Weather past week generally favorable. Cotton plant has make satisfactory progress except in northern Texas, where rainy weather delayed work, and crop is somewhat in the grass vel. Warm and dry weather would greatly improve the crop in this section of the State." Coyres—Rio on the spot was dull; No. 7, 7½. The future trading was as follows:

Chicago, June 26.—"Liberal re-cipts of hogs and a further decine in that market caused provisions to rule a little lower. The volume of trade was rather light, with the demand mainly on outside orders, indicating an increase in the speculative trade. With the exception of one of the large packers who bought lard, the offerings came from the manufacturers; 125,640 hogs are expected next week. There seems to be considerable underlying strongth to this market, based on the belief in better times as reflected in other speculative markets.
